Overview

These guidelines are intended to help anyone who is authorized in writing by the Big Ten Conference to use the Big Ten logo in accordance with the guidelines outlined in this manual.

The intent of these guidelines is to create a clear understanding of how the Big Ten logo is used in a variety of media and applications.

All digital artwork is available from the Big Ten Conference. Please contact:

Color and Usage

The Big Ten color scheme has been selected to work in print, on digital displays, and for web browsers. All colors used in applications of the Big Ten logo should be selected with the intended medium in mind.

The primary blue has been selected to stand out from the various team logos associated with the Big Ten Conference, but in some cases, black, white, or gray may be used in conjunction with or in place of the specified blue.

A wide variety of color combinations are specified in the following pages for a diverse handling of applications on colored, textured, or photographic backgrounds. Any color combinations not specified however, should be avoided.

The Big Ten logo must always be accompanied by an appropriate trademark symbol.

The “protected area” is a clear margin surrounding all Big Ten logos. It provides a clear graphic buffer zone to separate the logo from all other elements. No graphic element other than the registered trademark symbol may intrude upon the protected area around the logo.

The protected area is based on the measurement “X.” “X” is defined by the height of the serifs included in the word “BIG.”

Typography

The Big Ten logo consists of custom drawn type in a single weight. However, Benton Sans, which is available in a wide variety of weights, may be used in support of the logo.

Benton Sans Bold is to be used for all supporting headlines, while Benton Sans Regular is to be used for all supporting body text.

Benton Sans may be purchased from Font Bureau.

Sample Identity Applications

The following images demonstrate a few sample applications of the Big Ten identity on playing surfaces, promotional and marketing materials, and licensed merchandise.

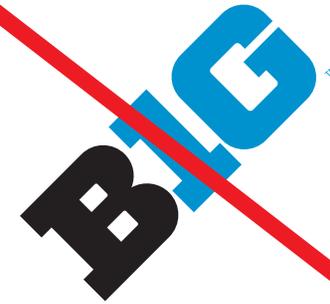

Restrictions

The Big Ten logo has been carefully designed to work within the context of a mixed variety of media. Nevertheless, there are some ways in which the logo should never be used.

The following pages will address a few key logo restrictions in the use of all Big Ten logo variations. However, this list is not exhaustive. In general, the logo should never be broken, stretched, squashed, or applied in any way other than the uses specified in these guidelines.

University Colors

The logo may be tailored to each university's unique color palette. The following guidelines outline approved color uses for applications including playing surfaces, promotional and marketing materials, and licensed merchandise.

In addition to each university's primary color palette, a black and white version of the logo is acceptable and available to all universities for their use.
