

Bulfinch Front in 1899 // Bulfinch Front today

Doric Hall, Late 1800's

Doric Hall Today

Taken 1917: Demolition of Townhouses to make room for the West Wing of the State House. We can see the Bulfinch front and the completed East Wing in this photo.

Bulfinch Front today

Circa 1903-1914:
General Hooker
Statue and Bulfinch Column before the addition of the East Wing

Circa 1860:
Hancock Manor where the West Wing now stands.

In 1863, the Hancock Manor
was demolished
to build
townhouses,
which led to a public outcry that sparked a preservation movement throughout Boston.

State House: Then and Now

Images compiled by Jessica Trusky.