SECRETARY GALVIN ANNOUNCES MASSACHUSETTS ARCHAEOLOGY MONTH
OCTOBER 2018

Secretary of the Commonwealth William F. Galvin announced today that October is Massachusetts Archaeology Month. Organized by the Massachusetts Historical Commission (MHC) and the State Archaeologist, this is the 27th annual celebration of archaeology in Massachusetts. Archaeology Month features more than 60 events across the Commonwealth that promote awareness of the Commonwealth's rich archaeological past through fun and engaging programs.

"Massachusetts Archaeology Month offers something for everyone who has a curiosity about the past. I urge everyone to take part in these events to gain a deeper knowledge of Massachusetts and its archaeological past," said Secretary Galvin, Chair of the Massachusetts Historical Commission.

Archaeology Month offers a variety of programs for adults, children, parents, and teachers. Programs highlight local history as well as archaeology around the world. Events include lectures, tours, exhibits, mock excavations, walking tours, chances to see behind-the-scenes in laboratories, and demonstrations; and will be held in the following communities: Acton, Amherst, Andover, Barnstable, Berkley, Billerica, Boston, Brewster, Cambridge, Concord, Deerfield, Duxbury, East Bridgewater, Haverhill, Kingston, Lexington, Lowell, Marshfield, Medford, Middleborough, Monson, Newburyport, North Adams, Norwell, Plymouth, Quincy, Somerville, Springfield, Stockbridge, Taunton, Waltham, Wayland, Wellfleet, Wellesley, West Bridgewater, Wilmington, Winchester, and Woburn.

Highlights include the famous Lowell Mill Girls, the history of Boston's Beacon Hill, and numerous talks and tours about recent archaeological excavations in Plymouth.
